

Wild Geese Farm

Nestled in the hills of Allegany County, Lynn & Shawn Bliven tend their 52 acre farm which is home to a small herd of beef cattle and a handful of Quarter Horses, a small flock of chickens, along with a growing flock of Shetland Sheep. Managed rotational grazing with multiple species provides for optimum growth and health of their animals. They pride themselves on raising our livestock as close as possible to the way nature intended.

Their excellent meats are available year-round. They include: grass-fed beef by the side, split side or individual cuts processed to order at USDA Inspected facility. Meat is double wrapped and frozen. Grass-fed Shetland lamb whole, half or individual cuts processed to order at USDA Inspected facility. Meat is double wrapped and frozen. Breakfast and Italian sausage; ground, patty, link or rope. Pastured poultry using only certified natural feed supplemented by quality forage to raise the Cornish Rock meat birds and game hens and free range eggs. Their layers receive certified natural feed along with free choice pasture or hay.

Their stock is raised on top quality forage and mineral supplements. They do not use medicated feed, antibiotics, or growth hormones.
